

NIKK THOMAS TRANSFORMATIONAL SPEAKER + EMCEE

-INFO@NIKKITHOMAS.TV WWW.NIKKITHOMAS.TV/SPEAKER

Nikki Thomas, a legendary Bay Area radio personality, boasts a remarkable 20-year careerin the San Francisco Bay Area, leaving an indelible mark on the airwaves. For over a decade, she cohosted the "Kevin Brown Morning Show" on 102.9 KBLX, then seamlessly collaborated with the Steve Harvey Show. Nikki's versatility shines through as she served as an afternoon host and curated the evening vibe as a Quiet Storm host.

Nikki is a dynamic transformational speaker, event MC, and workshop facilitator, advocating for wellness and empowerment. As the brain behind community fitness programs, such as the Soul Yoga Project and the free Get Fit Get Down series with KBLX, Nikki brought accessible health initiatives to the Bay Area.

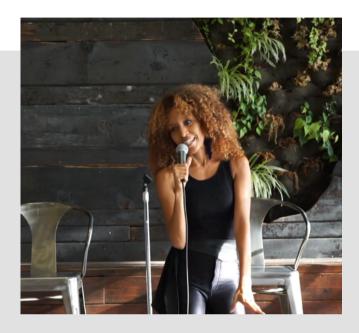

Nikki's impact extends to her collaborations with notable organizations, including Black Girls Code, Outdoor Afro, Dream Corps, 100 Black Women of the Bay Area, and brand partnerships with major names like State Farm, AARP, and Apple to name a few. Her influence spans the realms of arts, culture, and technology, leaving an indelible mark on clients such as the SF Recovery Theater, Afro Solo Theater, Oakland Museum of California, Napa Valley Jazz Getaway Getaway, W Hotel San Francisco, and the Conference of Minority Transportation Officials. This is just a snapshot of Nikki's impactful journey, showcasing her commitment to diverse communities and innovative collaborations.

In her latest venture, Nikki Thomas Communications, she pioneers creative digital solutions and media strategies. Notably, during the COVID-19 pandemic, Nikki led KBLX's shift to social media and internet programming, demonstrating her innovative approach to media. She took charge as the host and co-producer of the Women of KBLX virtual forum, showcasing her commitment to fostering connections.

Having transitioned from radio, Nikki is now an empty nester with a passion for empowering women over 40 in the realms of digital education, empowerment, and community building. As the founder of Nikki Thomas Communications, a creative digital solutions and media firm, she's focused on serving the community by building impactful, community-based platforms for wellness and empowerment.
